Assessing the Current Environment and Preparing for What May Lie Ahead

May, 2024

Dear Fellow Shareholder:

One of the primary characteristics of fixed income investments, including municipal bonds, is an inherent dependency on certain market conditions. Perhaps chief among them is the direction of interest rates, which results in a direct, inverse relationship between bond yields and valuations. Although expected, this yield/valuation dynamic has been further influenced by mounting uncertainty regarding interest rates and federal monetary policy for the year ahead. The Federal Reserve (the “Fed”), which previously signaled a series of rate cuts in 2024, has instead adopted a wait-and-see approach — suggesting that interest rates may remain “higher for longer.” In the process, bond yields have generally remained elevated, offering income-oriented investors attractive yield opportunities. On the other hand, investors focused on bond valuations remain skittish about their principal investments.

Current market conditions, thus, beg the questions: Will the Fed decide to cut interest rates in 2024? How might bond yields and valuations be affected going forward? While no one has a crystal ball, of course, we believe it’s important to understand the current environment and prepare for what may lie ahead.

Potential Implications for Municipal Bonds

Municipal securities generally began the year on a positive note, continuing the strong rally that occurred toward the end of 2023. However, as the first quarter unfolded, bond valuations gave way to a prevailing increase in yields that swept across fixed income markets. Overall, municipal bonds performed respectably on a relative basis, especially considering a significant amount of volatility among many fixed income asset classes, including U.S. Treasury securities. In addition to enduring interest rate volatility, U.S. Treasuries have continued to experience an inversion of the yield curve. The municipal yield curve has also experienced somewhat of an aberration, taking on an atypical “ladle” shape. Much of these conditions have come amid continued uncertainty about the direction of interest rates, and as investors appeared to gravitate toward shorter-term durations and investment alternatives.

As referenced above, short-term interest rates are largely driven by the monetary policy adopted by the Federal Reserve. A rather striking strategic change by the Fed in recent months has introduced added uncertainty for financial markets. For instance, at the Federal Open Market Committee (“FOMC”) meeting in December 2023, the Fed indicated that it was prepared to begin implementing a series of rate cuts during the coming year. And this stance was reiterated as recently as the FOMC meeting in March. However, citing stubborn inflation and stronger-than-expected economic data, the Fed instead elected to again hold rates steady and maintain the overnight federal funds rate (the rate that banks charge each other to borrow or lend excess reserves overnight) at its target range of 5.25% to 5.5%. In fact, the FOMC in May marked the sixth consecutive meeting that the Fed chose to leave rates unchanged, which kept the federal funds rate at its highest level in more than two decades.

Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell stated that he doesn’t anticipate the Fed cutting interest rates until it is confident inflation is moving sustainably downward. Mr. Powell added that gaining such confidence will likely take longer than previously expected, and that any further decisions regarding monetary policy will be considered on a meeting-by-meeting basis. Therefore, financial markets have pivoted and are prepared for what appears may be a period of persistently higher interest rates.

In terms of key economic drivers, inflation (as measured by the Consumer Price Index) has fallen significantly from its most recent peak of 9.1%, yet remains more than a percentage point above the Fed’s target rate of 2%. Lingering inflation continues to have its effects on various aspects of the economy and does not go unnoticed by market observers. Meanwhile, the labor force has remained strong and remains one of the bright spots for the U.S. economy. According to Bureau of Labor statistics in March, the labor participation rate rose to 62.7%, while the unemployment rate dropped to 3.8%, bringing unemployment to its lowest level in nearly 50 years.

So, what does this mean for fixed income investors? Financial markets continue to take it all in and react accordingly. The current environment is clearly indicative of just how dependent fixed income investments, including municipal bonds, are to changing market conditions. Whereas the markets had been prepared for potential interest rate reductions, they are now bracing for what could be a period of “higher for longer” rates — and with it, potential uncertainty.

Assessing the Road Ahead

The economic backdrop seems to be plotting the roadmap for fixed income investments for the time being. Heightened market sensitivity to key economic data may continue in the interim, which could further contribute to uncertainty and volatility across fixed income asset classes. As noted above, this backdrop has allowed the Federal Reserve to be patient with its monetary strategy and overall approach to managing interest rates. Predictions for interest rate reductions in 2024 have changed and continue to vary among market pundits. Talk of as many as six rate cuts has muted to possibly three, or perhaps only one, if any. And the timing of any possible action is very much dependent on forthcoming economic indicators. One thing is for sure: Until such time, both the Federal Reserve and investors alike will be closely monitoring what transpires.

Coinciding with a recent rise in bond yields, issuance of new municipal bonds has continued to increase nationally. Municipalities appear to be more confident bringing new issues to market, as demand for municipal bonds remains relatively high. During the first quarter of 2024, new issuance totaled $95 billion — a year-over-year increase of 19.5%, according to Bloomberg. This is an encouraging sign for municipalities, and for the municipal bond market overall.

Another positive development for municipal bonds is improving credit fundamentals. According to S&P Global Ratings and Fitch Ratings, municipal credit rating upgrades far outweighed downgrades during the first quarter of 2024. Municipal credits have continued to benefit from federal pandemic aid, along with strong tax revenue collections, which has helped maintain healthy fiscal budgets and cash reserves, in many cases.

No market scenario would be complete without the possibility of other influencing factors. The unfortunate geopolitical tensions and potential for escalation abroad pose a lingering threat to global financial markets. And domestically, the presidential election cycle presents an additional consideration as we progress in 2024 and beyond.

Regardless of these and other macro market forces, we believe that with changing market conditions come opportunities. That's why we also believe in the importance of maintaining a disciplined, long-term approach to investing.

Remain Focused on Your Long-Term Investment Goals

At Aquila Group of Funds, we remain optimistic for the municipal bond market — and for the role that mutual funds play in helping investors achieve their long-term financial goals. Municipal bonds are vital to financing the infrastructure of states and local communities. Moreover, they may play an important role in an investor's asset allocation strategy. We, therefore, believe it's important to keep in mind the key benefits that municipal bond funds offer, particularly during periods of market change and uncertainty. We feel it's critical to stay true to one's investment objectives, time horizon and risk tolerance. And, we encourage you to consult with a financial professional to ensure your investment portfolio is aligned with your individual, long-term financial goals.

As was recently announced, the mutual funds within Aquila Municipal Trust are expected to be reorganized under the terms of a definitive agreement with New York Life Investment Management LLC. The funds' Board of Trustees believes the proposed reorganizations are in the best interests of each fund and its shareholders. For more details, please refer to the Supplement dated March 12, 2024 to your Funds' Summary Prospectus, Prospectus and Statement of Additional Information (which was sent to all shareholders and is available at www.AquilaFunds.com).

ANNUAL REPORT Management Discussion

Introduction

The Aquila Group of Funds (“AGOF”) single state municipal bond funds have consistently maintained a high quality, intermediate fund strategy that is designed to help mitigate interest rate volatility. During the annual reporting period of April 1, 2023 through March 31, 2024, the Federal Reserve (the “Fed”) dramatically slowed its pace of hikes in the Federal Funds rate (the interest rate at which commercial banks lend money to each other overnight) to two times, making its latest 0.25% hike in July 2023. However, the economic outlook is uncertain and the Fed’s fight with inflation does not appear to be over. We believe there will continue to be strong interest regarding how the Fed responds to the economic conditions facing the United States and that this theme will persist through 2024, if not longer. It is worth noting that the Fed does not sit idly during election years. Since 1980, the Fed has either hiked or cut rates in every single election year except 2012. These periods can introduce valuable opportunities to leverage our demonstrated active management techniques with a focus on intermediate maturity, broadly diversified, high quality, tax-exempt municipal bond portfolios.

U.S. Economy

While the markets have rebounded from 2022, the U.S. economy continues to perform well and has shown few signs of abating to date. Even with the Federal Reserve’s reluctance to cut interest rates because of stubborn inflation, markets have taken that as a sign of continued growth. This was demonstrated between the fourth quarter of 2023 and first quarter of 2024, where markets had anticipated as many as eight rate cuts. By the middle of January 2024, this forecast was reversed and by the end of the first quarter of 2024; as of this writing, the prediction is currently targeting two rate cuts to be implemented in 2024. Thus, inflation, and how the Federal Reserve responds, remain the key macroeconomic topics moving forward.

In July of last year, the Fed raised the range for its benchmark lending rate to a 23-year high of 5.25% – 5.50%, and has maintained this range for each successive meeting. However, despite substantial easing, inflation remains stubbornly above the Fed’s 2% target level. While U.S. consumer inflation has been slowing since peaking in 2022, it has crept higher in recent months. Over the past year, annual inflation, as measured by the Personal Consumption Expenditures (“PCE”), has decreased by 2.9 percentage points from February 2023 to February 2024. However, headline PCE was still 2.5% for February 2024, well above the Fed’s target level, leading to speculation and volatility as investors continue to debate when the Fed will implement its first rate cut.

Furthermore, despite the Fed's interest rate increases in 2022 and 2023, the labor market has remained remarkably strong. March 2024 payroll data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics indicated that U.S. payrolls rose by the most in nearly a year, with employers adding 303,000 workers to non-farm payrolls. Furthermore, over the past year, the labor force participation rate increased from 62.6% in March of 2023 to 62.7% in March 2024. The March 2024 payroll report strengthens the argument being made that interest rates remain higher-for-longer. Although the Fed has previously indicated they plan to cut interest rates later this year, they appear to be in no real hurry given recent economic strength. Strong economic data, in terms of consumer spending and real Gross Domestic Product growth, raise the possibility of inflation persisting in the quarters ahead.

Municipal Market

The municipal market followed the volatile U.S. Treasury market over the fiscal year ending March 31, 2024. The Federal Reserve tightening policy moved the 10-year AAA municipal yield of 2.27% on March 31, 2023 to a yield of 3.61% on October 31, 2023. At that time, the market was anticipating Federal Reserve rate accommodation which spurred a rally in the municipal market that topped out in late December 2023, with the 10-year AAA Municipal Yield at 2.28%. Given inflation has not subsided, as many economists and the Federal Reserve board members believed it would, the 10-year AAA Municipal Yield ended the fiscal year on March 31, 2024 at a yield of 2.51%.

As a relative indicator, the 10-year U.S. Treasury vs. the AAA Municipal Yield Ratio began the fiscal year on March 31, 2023 at 64.90%. The ratio increased to 74.10% as of October 31, 2023. As of fiscal year-end, March 31, 2024, the ratio decreased to 59.80%, which is a very low ratio historically and helpful in identifying demand for tax-free income.

The overall municipal bond market experienced positive performance relative to the taxable market, as measured by the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Total Return Index Value Unhedged. The broader tax-exempt market returned +6.40% for the 1-year period at the end of 2023, outperforming the Bloomberg U.S. Agg Total Return Index Value Unhedged which returned +5.28%. While these returns were not as impressive as the S&P 500 Index which returned 26.25% as of year-end 2023, what remains interesting to note is the continued multi-year correlation between the equity and fixed income markets. Despite the continued tightening of monetary policy and the Fed pausing as inflation began to settle down, U.S. Treasury yields as a percentage of municipal bond yields remained at historically low levels (mid 50% range) for most of the year, through the end of 2023. Longer maturity municipal bonds moved toward the lower end of the historical range (low to mid-80%). Despite higher than normal issuance at the start of 2024, municipal bond spreads remained tight.

Total municipal issuance for calendar year 2023 slid 2.9%, as reported by The Bond Buyer, which ostensibly helped push the 10-year U.S. Treasury vs. the AAA Municipal Yield Ratio cited above to the lower end of the historical range. A reversal of municipal new issuance, over the first calendar quarter 2024, rising +23.8% over the calendar year 2023, this increase in issuance should help normalize the ratio closer to the 5-year mean of 83.03%. Issuance is projected to be $20 billion higher in 2024 than 2023.

We expect increased borrowing for infrastructure and other municipal spending at higher interest rates will begin to be felt in municipal budgets over the next few years. Borrowing capacities may also be stretched and certain projects may need to be cut back, postponed or perhaps even cancelled. Prioritizing and rationalizing budgets could likely be a necessary component, particularly as we enter the throes of the upcoming election season.

Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona

Arizona State Economy

During the reporting period ending March 31, 2024, the Arizona economy exhibited strong growth with a somewhat moderating undertone. This comes on the heels of recent years of economic development announcements around sizeable capital investments in the State’s manufacturing and high tech industries.

The State’s unemployment rate in March 2024 was 3.8% and in line with the national rate of 3.8%. Arizona improved slightly over the past year compared to the national economy, as it rose 0.2% year-over-year compared to the 0.3% increase for the same period in the national unemployment rate. Job growth for the 12-month period ending March 2024 came in at 2.2%, with a total increase of 70,300 jobs. Along with continued population growth, Arizona’s labor force continues to expand as well, with over a year of growth of 2.0%.

The median home price in Maricopa County rose to $470,000 in January 2024, which was an increase of 7.9% compared to a year earlier. The housing market in Arizona has demonstrated remarkable resilience despite the higher mortgage rate environment compared to two years ago. Arizona home price values and valuations remain attractive compared to those of many regions, such as California and the Northeast from which Arizona is attracting new population and homebuyers. This has helped support the pace of home buying in the State.

The Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona (the “Fund”) Class A Share total return underperformed the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Quality Intermediate Index (the “Index”) of 2.05%, while the Fund’s Y Class Share total return of 2.06% slightly exceeded the Index return. (Note: the Index does not include any operating expenses nor sales charges, and being nationally oriented, does not reflect state-specific bond market performance.)

The slightly longer maturity and duration position of the Fund contributed to Class A Share underperformance compared to the Index. However, the Index is comprised of a narrower, and more concentrated, maturity exposure than that of the Fund. Part of our approach to pursuing an average intermediate maturity and duration is to combine a more broadly diversified range of maturities across the yield curve with a goal to avoid concentrating in overpriced areas and seeking to ensure there is exposure to areas that may be undervalued.

Outlook and Strategy

Throughout the reporting period ending March 31, 2024, we maintained what we believe to have been a fairly neutral interest rate risk stance while responding opportunistically in periods of market fluctuations. Average final maturity ended the year at 9.27 years. This was a modest increase from where the portfolio began the reporting period; we believe this potentially better positioned the Fund for any eventual easing of monetary policy, yet left the portfolio in the middle of its historic 5-15 year maturity range. This was consistent with our expectations at the outset of the year of prudently “leaning into” a slightly longer maturity stance. The Fund also maintained a preference towards higher quality bonds, with 89% of the portfolio comprised at the end of the reporting period of bond issues rated AA or higher.

With the trend in inflation remaining solidly above the 2% target of the Federal Reserve (the “Fed”), and market expectations as 2024 has begun to unfold for the Fed to continue to delay interest rate cuts, we will likely maintain the average final maturity around 9 years, and effective duration near the midpoint of the Fund’s desired range of 4-6 years. The persistent ladle shape of the municipal yield curve continues to dictate a preference towards a barbell maturity structure in the portfolio. This has translated to our seeking to maintain broad diversification across both maturity and bond structure. The Fund’s average coupon of 4.47% (as of March 31, 2024) reflected portfolio holdings across both premium bonds with coupons above 4% and select discount bonds with 3% and lower coupons.

We believe a broad approach to diversification across not only maturities and credit quality, but also across bond structures and overall municipal yield curve positioning, may enable the Fund to better navigate the continuing uncertain interest rate environment.

Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado

Colorado State Economy

Despite rising prices, Colorado’s economy continues to expand with a strong labor market and consumer spending. Colorado retail sales were up 0.9% in 2023 versus calendar 2022 and are expected to grow 2.9% in 2024. The fastest growing sectors in 2023 were the food and beverage places sector, growing 6.2% and general merchandise stores, growing 3.5%. The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the State’s unemployment rate at 3.5% in February 2024, as compared with the February 2024 U.S. unemployment rate of 3.9%. Colorado’s labor force participation rate improved to 68.1% in February 2024, the fourth highest in the nation. The State’s largest job gains were in the educational and health services and the government and construction sectors.

The State’s General Fund ended its June 30, 2023 fiscal year at $18 billion with a reserve of $2.4 billion, $431.2 million above the statutory required 15.0% reserve. According to the Colorado Legislative Council’s March 2024 economic forecast, the State’s revenue is currently expected to decrease by $382.4 million in 2024, due to the passage of Proposition 121. This legislation was passed at the November 2022 election to reduce Colorado’s income tax rate from 4.55% to 4.40%. Colorado’s 2023 General Fund revenues finished the year at $18.0 billion, up 1.7% from fiscal year 2022. General Fund revenues are forecast to drop 2.1% in fiscal year 2024 and then increase 5.9% in fiscal year 2025 to finish the year at $18.7 billion.

The State collected a Tax Payer’s Bill of Rights (“TABOR”) surplus of $3.56 billion for fiscal year 2023 and is projecting a TABOR surplus of $1.82 billion in fiscal year 2024. Sales tax revenues are projected to increase 2.2% from fiscal year 2023 and expected to grow 3.5% in fiscal year 2025, as labor conditions soften and higher interest rates lead to tighter lending standards.

Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado (the “Fund”) was defensively positioned with a goal to withstand the rising interest rate market experienced over this past year. Accordingly, the total return for the Fund’s Class A Share (without sales charge) was 1.74% for the fiscal-year ended March 31, 2024 compared to 2.05% for the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Quality Intermediate Index (the “Index”). It should be noted that the Index does not include any operating expenses nor sales charges, and being nationally oriented, does not reflect state-specific bond market performance.

The Fund’s shorter duration, higher credit quality and underweight positions in the airports, charter schools and industrial development sectors were all factors that contributed to unfavorable Fund performance versus the Index. However, our overweight position in longer intermediate maturities, city, toll roads, K-12 school districts contributed to overall outperformance versus the Index.

Outlook and Strategy

Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado continues to implement the longstanding tenets of the Aquila Group of Funds, namely, local management, high credit quality and intermediate maturity focus. With a relatively flat yield curve from approximately five to ten years and dynamic market conditions, we remain cautious in our selection of municipal bonds. While recent comments of Fed Chair Powell maintain that rates will fall later this year, rates have recently increased as traders speculate about the Fed not cutting rates until later this year. Over this past year, we have sought to take advantage of the higher interest rate environment by selling lower book yield securities and replacing them with higher yielding securities, where the yield curve steepens in the 10 to 15-year maturity range.

Credit research remains the cornerstone of our strategy, with vigilant monitoring of both issuers and sectors. Under our overall defensive portfolio strategy, credit quality remains very high with approximately 92% of the portfolio rated AA or higher (as of 3/31/2024). Although we have observed wider spreads for certain credits, we are only selectively taking risk where we believe we find risk rewarded. Furthermore, we have expanded our effort to evaluate currently under-represented sectors and bonds with attractive structures or relative spreads. These under-represented sectors could present an opportunity to increase exposure to holdings with yields commensurate to, or exceeding, potential volatility. We believe these opportunities may present an opportunity to capture incremental yield while helping to diversifying associated risk.

We believe our current fund maturity and duration exposure should leave us in a desirable position to respond to any favorable shifts that may occur in the yield curve and credit spreads as monetary policy continues to unfold. If the Fed continues their strategy of leaving interest rates steady, the volatility the municipal market has experienced over the first quarter of 2024 may likely continue, as the Fed waits for confirmation that inflation is under control. These periods can introduce valuable opportunities to leverage our demonstrated active management techniques that have historically enabled the Fund to minimize share price volatility while maintaining a conservative intermediate maturity position and producing tax-exempt income.

Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky

Kentucky State Economy

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 2023, Kentucky State reported total General Fund Receipts of $15.1 billion, which exceeded budgeted estimates by $1.4 billion. This contributed to the largest state surplus in history. Road Fund Revenue totaled $1.75 billion which resulted in 4.7% growth or a $32.3 million revenue surplus. Budget director John Hicks said, "Kentucky's economy is borne out by this revenue report: more jobs, higher wages and salaries, another year of double digit growth in sales tax revenues and continued business profits." This growth comes in conjunction with a six month of reduction in the Individual Income Tax Rate to 4.5%. On January 1, 2024, the Kentucky state income tax was reduced to 4%. In September 2023, it was announced that since the State did not meet one of two revenue hurdles the income tax rate would remain at 4.0% thru 2025. The Kentucky "rainy day fund" has grown to a record $3.7 billion or 24.6% of total general revenue at the end of the fiscal year ended June 30, 2023.

For the fiscal year that began on July 1, 2023, through the end of March 2024, General Fund Revenues are up 3.9% fiscal year-to-date. The budgeted revenue growth rate for the General Receipts is 2.7%, so over the next three months revenue only has to grow 0.4% to meet budget. Road revenue has grown at a 7.3% for the fiscal year 2024 and must maintain this growth over the next three months to make budget.

The Unemployment Rate for the State has inched higher, standing at 4.5% at the end of March 2024, while the National Unemployment Rate was 3.80% for the same period. There has been substantially fewer announcements of business expansions in the State compared to last year. A major reversal of the 2023 Ford / SK Blue Oval factories (both located in Glendale, Kentucky) was announced in late October 2023. The Kentucky #1 factory will open in 2025 and is targeted to provide 2,500 new jobs. The company stated it would postpone completion of the Kentucky #2 factory indefinitely. The factory was targeted to provide an additional 2,500 jobs. The rationale behind the postponement is the uncertainty surrounding Electronic Vehicle ("EV") sales across the United States. In February 2024, Toyota announced at its Georgetown, Kentucky factory, a $1.3 billion expansion to build their flagship Battery Electric Vehicles which will provide 700 new jobs in the greater Lexington market.

The composition of the Fund was shifted in May and June of 2023 to a significantly higher AA rating as a result of the credit rating upgrades. During the fiscal year, the Fund’s purchase of single A rated securities with higher yields, together with the higher yields related to the Fund’s lower credit quality composition versus the Index (which was positioned in a higher percentage of AAA rated securities) assisted the Fund in its outperformance versus the Index.

purchase and retain the highest quality securities that we believe the State offers based upon our analytics and credit perspective obtained over our long local tenure in the Kentucky market. Credit research remains a cornerstone for the Fund. The Fund raised the AA rated position to 57.46% of the portfolio (as a result of the aforementioned credit rating upgrades) and lowered the single A portion of the portfolio to 36.15%. This positioning stands in contrast to 51% in the single A rated category in March 2023 and 39% in the AA rated category in 2023. With the volatility we are experiencing in the fixed income markets, in our opinion, we believe we are keenly aware of value when we see it and are therefore striving to hold a slightly higher percentages of cash which should enable us to purchase securities that we deem will add value to the portfolio, as they become available in both the Primary and Secondary markets.

We believe our current fund maturity and duration exposure should leave us in a desirable position to respond to any favorable shifts that may occur in the yield curve and credit spreads as monetary policy continues to unfold. The volatility the municipal market has experienced in the past year may likely continue if the Federal Reserve continues with their strategy of holding rates higher for longer, along with inflation at recent elevated levels. These periods can introduce valuable opportunities to leverage our demonstrated active management techniques that have historically enabled the Fund to limit erosion in the monthly distributions, while maintaining a conservative intermediate maturity position.

Oregon State Economy

Personal and corporate tax collections are tracking closely to the State's expectations. Oregon's revenue outlook accordingly appears to have stabilized. State economists disclosed, in their March 2024 Economic and Revenue Forecast that the State has accumulated larger reserve fund balances than it had been able to accumulate in past cycles, which should help stabilize the budget should a recession occur. The Oregon Rainy Day Fund and the Education Stability Fund currently total a combined $2.2 billion as of March 2024. At the end of the 2023-25 biennium, the two reserves are projected by the State to total $2.9 billion, which is equal to 11.2% of current revenues. Including the currently projected $1.7 billion ending balance in the State's General Fund, the total effective reserves at the end of the current 2023-25 biennium are projected to be 17.6% of the State's current revenues.

Although the labor market remains healthy, it has eased from the overheated state witnessed during the pandemic. For the past two years, Oregon's unemployment rate has remained in a historically low range between 3.4% and 4.2%. The State's unemployment rate increased to 4.2% in February from 4.1% in January. For comparison, the U.S. unemployment rate was lower at 3.9% in February and 3.7% in January 2024. The State reported seasonally adjusted nonfarm payroll employment rose by 4,400 jobs for the month of February following January's revised loss. Oregon's private sector cut 11,300 jobs, or -0.7%, over the most recent 12-month period ended February 29, 2024. Job losses were greatest in information, professional and business services, manufacturing, and retail trade, each down by between 3,400 and 9,300 jobs.

Rising mortgage rates, due to the Federal Reserve's (the "Fed") continued moves to curb inflation, have made home financing more expensive. The purpose of the rate increases is to cool prices off, and Oregon markets are responding with declining home sale prices and less activity. The Willamette Valley Multiple Listings Service ("WVMLS"), which covers Benton, Linn, Marion and Polk counties, reported that the number of closed sales declined 14.9% for the 12-month period ended March 31, 2024 versus 2023. However, the median sales price reported by the WVMLS increased for March 2024 to $431,000, a 1.8% increase from February 2023. According to data reported by Standard & Poor's for the S&P CoreLogic Case-Shiller Index, national home prices increased 6.0% year-over-year in January 2023, the fastest annual rate since 2022. San Diego (up 11.2%) and Los Angeles (up 8.6%) showed the largest gains, while Portland (up 0.9%) lagged behind.

Higher interest rates have also impacted municipal bond issuance. The pace of Oregon issuance has slowed significantly over the first three months of 2024 with only 6 new deals compared to 10 new deals during the first quarter of 2023. Issuance of tax-exempt non-AMT municipal bonds for the first quarter of 2024 was 93% below the first quarter of 2023 issuance. As a result, it has become increasingly more challenging to source new Oregon bonds. Over the past quarter, new issues have included general obligation bonds from the City of Molalla, City of Hermiston, City of Portland and St. Paul School District. The City of Beaverton also sold water revenue bonds. However, there were no refunding issues.

Historically, the November election has been an important source of municipal bond issuance in Oregon and an indication of the level of issuance for the following year. At Oregon's November 2023 Special Election, Oregon residents only approved two issues with a combined par amount of $19 million, across the State. These results were very anemic compared to previous elections. However, the upcoming May 21, 2024 Primary Election has $1.23 billion in new money measures from school districts, cities and special districts throughout Oregon. There are 22 local governments on the May ballot requesting from $2.5 million to $380 million. The largest measure is from Metro for Improvements to the Oregon Zoo. Depending upon election results, Oregon issuance could be dramatically different during the second half of 2024.

Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon (the “Fund”) was defensively positioned with a goal to withstand the rising interest rate market experienced over this past year. Accordingly, the total return for the Fund’s Class A Share (without sales charge) was 1.07% for the fiscal-year ended March 31, 2024 compared to 2.05% for the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Quality Intermediate Index (the “Index”). It should be noted that the Index does not include any operating expenses nor sales charges, and being nationally oriented, does not reflect state-specific bond market performance.

The Fund’s shorter duration, higher credit quality and underweight positions in the airports, charter schools, retirement centers, single-family housing and industrial development sectors, were all factors that contributed to unfavorable Fund performance versus the Index. However, our overweight position in K-12 school districts and bonds issued by cities contributed to overall outperformance versus the Index.

Outlook and Strategy

Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon continues to implement the longstanding tenets of the Aquila Group of Funds, namely, local management, high credit quality and intermediate maturity focus. With a relatively flat yield curve from approximately five to ten years and dynamic market conditions, we remain cautious in our selection of municipal bonds. While recent comments of Fed Chair Powell maintain that rates will fall later this year, rates have recently increased as traders speculate about the Fed not cutting rates until later this year. Over this past year, we have sought to take advantage of the higher interest rate environment by selling lower book yield securities and replacing them with higher yielding securities, where the yield curve steepens in the 10 to 15-year maturity range.

Credit research remains the cornerstone of our strategy, with vigilant monitoring of both issuers and sectors. Under our overall defensive portfolio strategy, credit quality remains very high with approximately 91% of the portfolio rated AA or higher (as of 3/31/2024). Although we have observed wider spreads for certain credits, we are only selectively taking risk where we believe we find risk rewarded. Furthermore, we have expanded our effort to evaluate currently under-represented sectors and bonds with attractive structures or relative spreads. These under-represented sectors could present an opportunity to increase exposure to holdings with yields commensurate to, or exceeding, potential volatility. We believe these opportunities may present an opportunity to capture incremental yield while helping to diversifying associated risk.

We believe our current fund maturity and duration exposure should leave us in a desirable position to respond to any favorable shifts that may occur in the yield curve and credit spreads as monetary policy continues to unfold. If the Fed continues their strategy of leaving interest rates steady, the volatility the municipal market has experienced over the first quarter of 2024 may likely continue, as the Fed waits for confirmation that inflation is under control. These periods can introduce valuable opportunities to leverage our demonstrated active management techniques that have historically enabled the Fund to minimize share price volatility while maintaining a conservative intermediate maturity position and producing tax-exempt income.

Rhode Island Economy

Both employment and jobs based in Rhode Island showed good progress over the past year through the period ended March 31, 2024. Specifically, the number of working Rhode Island residents grew by 3,700 and the labor force also grew by 11,600 over the year. Rhode Island based jobs were up 8,800 over the year and marked an all-time high. The labor force participation rates continued to trend higher to 64.4% and remained above that of the national rate of 62.7%. The state has added 1,400 jobs per month on-average during the first quarter of 2024. Additionally, manufacturing hours in Rhode Island saw a rather large increase in weekly hours worked, up 2.8 hours from a year ago to 41.6 hours. Perhaps part of this increase is a result of a locally-based program that has trained over 5,000 workers for General Dynamics' Electric Boat submarine facilities since 2020. The program is expected to train 2,800 workers a year for various new positions, which includes Rhode Island's own Quonset Point facility.

The City of Providence recently proposed its Fiscal Year 2025 budget (for year-end June 30) of $598.6 million. The budget calls for a 3% increase over the prior fiscal year, all without a residential tax increase. The mayor is looking to eliminate the homestead exemption by breaking down the tax rate into two categories: owner-occupied and non-owner occupied. The commercial tax rate would not change. The ability to not have to raise residential tax rates is mainly a result of payment in lieu of taxes (PILOT) agreements with many of the city's colleges and universities. This would also allow for the city to provide higher funding for education, public safety and other city services.

Fund Performance

Returns for calendar year 2023 for the Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund Class Y Shares were 4.39% and 4.65% for the Bloomberg Quality Intermediate Municipal Bond Index (the "Index"), respectively. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 2024, performance for the Fund's Y Share class was 1.76% which was below the 2.05% return of the Index for the same period.

The Fund underperformed the Index mainly due to two factors. With longer duration than the Index, interest rate movements impacted the portfolio to a greater degree. The longer duration allowed for a bit more variance (both positive and negative) in returns relative to the Index, causing slightly lower overall returns. While the positioning detracted from performance for the first half of the Fund's fiscal year, during the second half of the year when markets rallied or moved gradually higher the Fund performed relatively better. Having a number of longer-dated bonds in the portfolio at times moved bond values between their call and maturity dates. This volatility led to price swings in the Fund's share price and ultimately caused returns to marginally lag the benchmark. The higher portfolio yield relative to the Index provided some buffer during higher movement in interest rates. The second factor that contributed to underperformance versus the Index was the difference in credit distribution within the portfolio. When compared with the Index, the Fund has a higher percentage of AA quality bonds, a lower percentage of A and BBB bonds. There were also some considerable variations in sectors compared with the Index that accounted for performance differences.

Rhode Island saw an increase in primary issuance both on a calendar year and fiscal year basis. In particular, the first quarter of 2024 saw some less frequent issuers come to market which were well-received and had very tight spreads relative to their credit ratings.

Outlook and Strategy

Markets continue to try and outguess Federal Reserve (the "Fed") policy as witnessed throughout the prior three quarters. Apparently, anxious markets forgot about the old adage "Don't fight the Fed" and, therefore, market participants saw very wide swings in interest rates. While the yield curve remains inverted, longer rates have moved higher, flattening the curve, a result of concerns of more stubborn inflation and the lack of Fed policy rate cuts for the remainder of the year. While this has made bond yields look even more attractive, municipal bond spreads remain tight and relative value is more difficult to find. Recent portfolio moves have been to shorten duration relative to the normal positioning and more closely to the Index in order to take advantage of any forthcoming spread widening. Future trades will seek to continue to balance the additional yield with interest rate sensitivity of the portfolio with a goal to ensure a relatively stable net asset value (“NAV”). Despite the potential for more volatile interest rates, we remain steadfast in our commitment to our shareholders in an attempt to provide value regardless of market environment as we have sought to provide since 1992.

Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah

Utah State Economy

During the reporting period ending March 31, 2024, the Utah economy exhibited strong growth with a somewhat moderating undertone. The State’s unemployment rate in March 2024 was 2.8% which compared favorably to the March overall U.S. unemployment rate of 3.8%. The State also outperformed the overall U.S. economy in employment growth, as year-over-year employment grew 2.1% as of March 2024 compared to the 1.9% increase in U.S. employment in the same period. The construction industry registered the largest increase (+5.1%) in employment during this period, reflecting the health of the State’s economy.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis most recent report in March 2024 showed the Utah economy grew 5.4% in the fourth quarter of 2023, which was the third highest in the country. One of the underlying factors in the State’s economic performance is its labor force participation rate of 69%, the highest in the United States. Along with these robust economic growth trends, another factor that contributes to the AAA credit rating that the State of Utah maintains its debt management has been deemed to be well thought out. Reflecting this is the drop in per Capita Net General Obligation Debt at the State level to $561 at the end of Fiscal Year 2023, less than half the $1,159 per capital amount reported at the end of Fiscal Year 2014.

The median Utah home price reported in March 2024 was $533,500, a modest 1.9% increase compared to a year ago. The Utah housing market has demonstrated remarkable resilience despite the significantly higher mortgage rate environment compared to two years ago. Utah home price values and valuations remain attractive compared to those of many regions from which Utah is attracting new population and homebuyers, such as California and the Northeast. This has helped support the pace of home buying in the State.

The Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah (the “Fund”) Class A Share total return underperformed the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Quality Intermediate Index (the “Index”) of 2.05%, while the Fund’s Class Y Share total return of 2.07% slightly exceeded the Index return. (Note: the Index does not include any operating expenses nor sales charges, and being nationally oriented, does not reflect state-specific bond market performance.)

The slightly longer maturity position of the Fund contributed to Class A Share underperformance compared to the Index. However, the Index is comprised of a narrower, and more concentrated, maturity exposure than that of the Fund. Part of our approach to pursuing an average intermediate maturity and duration is to combine a more broadly diversified range of maturities across the yield curve with a goal to avoid concentrating in overpriced areas and seeking to ensure there is exposure to areas that may be undervalued.

Outlook and Strategy

Throughout the reporting period ending March 31, 2024, we maintained what we believe to have been a fairly neutral interest rate risk stance while responding opportunistically in periods of market fluctuations. Average final maturity ended the year at 9.40 years. This was a modest decline from where it began the reporting period, while the modified and effective duration of the Fund experienced somewhat larger declines resulting primarily from a combination of increased valuations on the Fund’s holdings of premium coupon callable bonds. The Fund also maintained a preference towards higher quality bonds, with 77% of the portfolio comprised at the end of the reporting period of bond issues rated AA or higher.

With the trend in inflation remaining solidly above the 2% target of the Federal Reserve (“the Fed”), and market expectations as 2024 has begun to unfold for the Fed to continue to delay interest rate cuts, we will likely maintain the average final maturity and effective duration of the Fund near these present levels. The persistent ladle shape of the municipal yield curve continues to dictate a preference towards a barbell maturity structure in the portfolio. This has translated to our seeking to maintain broad diversification across both maturity and bond structure. The Fund’s average coupon of 4.46% (as of March 31, 2024) reflected portfolio holdings across both premium bonds with coupons above 4.00% and select discount bonds with 3.00% and lower coupons.

We believe a broad approach to diversification across not only maturities and credit quality, but also across bond structures and overall municipal yield curve positioning, may enable the Fund to better navigate the continuing uncertain interest rate environment.

Mutual fund investing involves risk and loss of principal is possible.

The market prices of the Funds' securities may rise or decline in value due to general market conditions, such as real or perceived adverse economic, political or regulatory conditions, political instability, recessions, inflation, changes in interest rates, lack of liquidity in the bond markets, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, weather or climate events, armed conflict, sanctions or other government actions, market disruptions caused by tariffs, trade disputes or other factors, or adverse investor sentiment. When market prices fall, the value of your investment may go down. In the past decade, financial markets have experienced increased volatility, depressed valuations, decreased liquidity and heightened uncertainty. These conditions may continue, recur, worsen or spread.

The long-term impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and its subsequent variants on economies, markets, industries and individual issuers, are not known. Some sectors of the economy and individual issuers have experienced or may experience particularly large losses. Periods of extreme volatility in the financial markets, reduced liquidity of many instruments, increased government debt, inflation, and disruptions to supply chains, consumer demand and employee availability, may continue for some time.

Raising the ceiling on U.S. government debt has become increasingly politicized. Any failure to increase the total amount that the U.S. government is authorized to borrow could lead to a default on U.S. government obligations, with unpredictable consequences for economies and markets in the U.S. and elsewhere. Inflation and interest rates have increased and may rise further. These circumstances could adversely affect the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments, impair the Funds' ability to satisfy redemption requests, and negatively impact the Funds' performance.

Economies and financial markets throughout the world are increasingly interconnected. Economic, financial or political events, trading and tariff arrangements, public health events, terrorism, wars, natural disasters and other circumstances in one country or region could have profound impacts on global economies or markets. As a result, whether or not the Funds invest in securities of issuers located in or with significant exposure to the countries or markets directly affected, the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments may be negatively affected. Following Russia's invasion of Ukraine, Russian securities lost all, or nearly all, their market value. Other securities or markets could be similarly affected by past or future political, geopolitical or other events or conditions. Furthermore, events involving limited liquidity, defaults, non-performance or other adverse developments that affect one industry, such as the financial services industry, or concerns or rumors about any events of these kinds, have in the past and may in the future lead to market-wide liquidity problems, may spread to other industries, and could negatively affect the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments.

Governments and central banks, including the U.S. Federal Reserve, have taken extraordinary and unprecedented actions to support local and global economies and the financial markets. These actions have resulted in significant expansion of public debt, including in the U.S. The consequences of high public debt, including its future impact on the economy and securities markets, may not be known for some time.

The U.S. and other countries are periodically involved in disputes over trade and other matters, which may result in tariffs, investment restrictions and adverse impacts on affected companies and securities. For example, the U.S. has imposed tariffs and other trade barriers on Chinese exports, has restricted sales of certain categories of goods to China, and has established barriers to investments in China. Trade disputes may adversely affect the economies of the U.S. and its trading partners, as well as companies directly or indirectly affected and financial markets generally. If the political climate between the U.S. and China does not improve or continues to deteriorate, if China were to attempt unification of Taiwan by force, or if other geopolitical conflicts develop or get worse, economies, markets and individual securities may be severely affected both regionally and globally, and the value of the Funds' assets may go down.

The value of your investment will generally go down when interest rates rise. A rise in interest rates tends to have a greater impact on the prices of longer term or longer duration securities. In recent years, interest rates and credit spreads in the U.S. have been at historic lows. The U.S. Federal Reserve has raised certain interest rates, and interest rates may continue to go up. A general rise in interest rates may cause investors to move out of fixed income securities on a large scale and could also result in increased redemptions from the Funds.

Investments in the Funds are subject to possible loss due to the financial failure of the issuers of underlying securities and their inability to meet their debt obligations.

The value of municipal securities can be adversely affected by changes in the financial condition of one or more individual municipal issuers or insurers of municipal issuers, regulatory developments, legislative actions, and by uncertainties and public perceptions concerning these and other factors. The Funds may be affected significantly by adverse economic, political or other events affecting state and other municipal issuers in which they invest, and may be more volatile than a more geographically diverse fund. The municipal bond market can be susceptible to unusual volatility, particularly for lower-rated and unrated securities. Liquidity can be reduced unpredictably in response to overall economic conditions or credit tightening. Municipal issuers may be adversely affected by rising health care costs, increasing unfunded pension liabilities, and by the phasing out of federal programs providing financial support. Unfavorable conditions and developments relating to projects financed with municipal securities can result in lower revenues to issuers of municipal securities, potentially resulting in defaults. Municipal securities may be more susceptible to downgrades or defaults during a recession or similar periods of economic stress. Financial difficulties of municipal issuers may continue or get worse, particularly in the event of political, economic or market turmoil or a recession.

A portion of income may be subject to local, state, Federal and/or alternative minimum tax. Capital gains, if any, are subject to capital gains tax.

These risks may result in share price volatility.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Trustees and Shareholders of Aquila Municipal Trust:

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities of Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona, Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado, Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky, Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon, Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund and Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah (the “Funds”), each a series of Aquila Municipal Trust (the “Trust”), including the schedule of investments, as of March 31, 2024, the related statement of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “financial statements”). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Funds as of March 31, 2024, the results of their operations for the year then ended, the changes in their net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and their financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Funds’ management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Funds’ financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (“PCAOB”) and are required to be independent with respect to the Funds in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB. We have served as the auditor for the Trust since 2005.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Funds are not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of the Funds’ internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Funds’ internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of March 31, 2024 by correspondence with the custodian. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

1. Organization

Aquila Municipal Trust is a Massachusetts business trust formed in 1986. Prior to April 10, 2013, the Trust was named Tax-Free Trust of Arizona. Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona, Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado, Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky, Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon, Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund and Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah (each, a “Fund”) are series of Aquila Municipal Trust. Each Fund is an open-end, non-diversified management investment company.

Prior to October 11, 2013, Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona was known as Tax-Free Trust of Arizona. Each of Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado, Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky, Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon, Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund and Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah (each, a “Successor Fund”) is a series of Aquila Municipal Trust. Each Successor Fund was established in connection with the reorganization into the Fund of a fund with identical investment objectives and principal investment strategies as the Successor Fund (each, a “Predecessor Fund”) (each, a “Reorganization”), as follows:

Tax-Free Trust of Arizona	Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona	October 11, 2013
Tax-Free Fund of Colorado	Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado	October 11, 2013
Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky, a series of Churchill Tax Free Trust	Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky	October 11, 2013
Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon, a series of The Cascades Trust	Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon	June 26, 2020
Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund	Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund	October 11, 2013
Tax-Free Fund For Utah	Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah	October 11, 2013

Accordingly, the reorganizations, which were tax-free exchanges, had no effect on the respective Fund’s operations. All Funds are authorized to issue an unlimited number of shares. The reorganizations were accomplished by exchanging the assets and liabilities of the predecessor funds for shares of the successor Funds. Shareowners holding shares of the predecessor funds received corresponding shares of the successor Funds in a one-to-one exchange ratio in each reorganization.

Class A Shares are offered to investors at net asset value plus a sales charge, paid at the time of purchase, at the maximum rate of 3.0% of the public offering price, with lower rates for larger purchases including previous purchases of shares of any class of any of the funds in the Aquila Group of Funds. There is no sales charge on purchases of $250,000 or more, but redemptions of shares so purchased are generally subject to a contingent deferred sales charge (“CDSC”). Class A Shares of Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona, Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky, Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon and Aquila

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Funds in the preparation of their financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for investment companies.

- a) Portfolio valuation: Municipal securities are valued each business day based upon information provided by a nationally prominent independent pricing service and periodically verified through other pricing services. In the case of securities for which market quotations are readily available, securities are valued by the pricing service at the mean of bid and ask quotations. If a market quotation or a valuation from the pricing service is not readily available, the security is valued using other fair value methods. Rule 2a-5 under the 1940 Act provides that in the event that market quotations are not readily available, such securities must be valued at their fair value as determined in good faith by each Fund's Board of Trustees. Rule 2a-5 further provides that the Board may choose to designate a "valuation designee" to perform the fair value determination. The Aquila Municipal Trust Board has designated Aquila Investment Management LLC as the valuation designee (the "Valuation Designee") to determine the fair value of Fund securities in good faith. Aquila Investment Management LLC as Valuation Designee, selects an appropriate methodology or methodologies for determining and calculating the fair value of the Funds' investments and applies such methodology or methodologies in a consistent manner, including specifying the key inputs and assumptions specific to each asset class or portfolio holding.
- b) Fair value measurements: The Funds follows a fair value hierarchy that distinguishes between market data obtained from independent sources (observable inputs) and the Fund's own market assumptions (unobservable inputs). These inputs are used in determining the value of the Funds' investments and are summarized in the following fair value hierarchy:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.

Level 2 – Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Funds' own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, based on the best information available.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

The following is a summary of the valuation inputs, representing 100% of the Funds' investments, used to value the Funds' net assets as of March 31, 2024:

- c) Subsequent events: In preparing these financial statements, the Funds have evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through the date these financial statements were issued.
- d) Securities transactions and related investment income: Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses from securities transactions are reported on the identified cost basis. Interest income is recorded daily on the accrual basis and is adjusted for amortization of premium and accretion of original issue and market discount.

- e) Federal income taxes: It is the policy of the Funds to continue to qualify as a regulated investment companies by complying with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to certain investment companies. The Funds intend to make distributions of income and securities profits sufficient to relieve them from all, or substantially all, Federal income and excise taxes.

Management has reviewed the tax positions for each of the open tax years (2021 – 2023) or expected to be taken in the Funds’ 2024 tax returns and has concluded that there are no significant uncertain tax positions that would require recognition in the financial statements.

- f) Multiple Class Allocations: All income, expenses (other than class-specific expenses), and realized and unrealized gains or losses are allocated daily to each class of shares based on the relative net assets of each class. Class-specific expenses, which include distribution and service fees and any other items that are specifically attributed to a particular class, are also charged directly to such class on a daily basis.
- g) Use of estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.
- h) Reclassification of capital accounts: Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that certain components of net assets relating to permanent differences be reclassified between financial and tax reporting.

For the year ended March 31, 2024,

- There were no other reclassifications with respect to the other Funds.

These reclassifications had no effect on net assets or net asset value per share.

- i) Each Fund is an investment company and accordingly follows the investment company accounting and reporting guidance of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standard Codification Topic 946 “Financial Services-Investment Companies”.

- a) Management Arrangements:

5. Portfolio Orientation

Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona

Since the Fund invests principally and may invest entirely in double tax-free municipal obligations of issuers within Arizona, it is subject to possible risks associated with economic, political, or legal developments or industrial or regional matters specifically affecting Arizona and whatever effects these may have upon Arizona issuers' ability to meet their obligations. The Fund is also permitted to invest in U.S. territorial municipal obligations meeting comparable quality standards and providing income which is exempt from both regular Federal and Arizona income taxes. The general policy of the Fund is to invest in such securities only when comparable securities of Arizona issuers are not available in the market. At March 31, 2024, the Fund had all of its long-term portfolio holdings invested in the securities of Arizona issuers.

Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky

Since the Fund invests principally and may invest entirely in double tax-free municipal obligations of issuers within Kentucky, it is subject to possible risks associated with economic, political, or legal developments or industrial or regional matters specifically affecting Kentucky and whatever effects these may have upon Kentucky issuers' ability to meet their obligations. The Fund is also permitted to invest in U.S. territorial municipal obligations meeting comparable quality standards and providing income which is exempt from both regular Federal and Kentucky income taxes. At March 31, 2024, the Fund had all of its long-term portfolio holdings invested in municipal obligations of issuers within Kentucky.

Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon

Since the Fund invests principally and may invest entirely in double tax-free municipal obligations of issuers within Oregon, it is subject to possible risks associated with economic, political, or legal developments or industrial or regional matters specifically affecting Oregon and whatever effects these may have upon Oregon issuers' ability to meet their obligations. For example, Measure 5, a 1990 amendment to the Oregon Constitution, as well as Measures 47 and 50, limit the taxing and spending authority of certain Oregon governmental entities. These amendments could have an adverse effect on the general financial condition of certain municipal entities that would impair the ability of certain Oregon issuers to pay interest and principal on their obligations. The Fund is also permitted to invest in U.S. territorial municipal obligations meeting comparable quality standards and providing income which is exempt from both regular Federal and Oregon income taxes. At March 31, 2024, the Fund had 100% of its long-term portfolio holdings invested in municipal obligations of issuers within Oregon.

Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah

At least 50% of the Fund’s assets will always consist of obligations of Utah-based issuers. At March 31, 2024, the Fund had 82% of its portfolio holdings invested in municipal obligations of issuers within Utah. The Fund is also permitted to invest in tax-free municipal obligations of non-Utah-based issuers that are exempt from regular Federal income taxes and, pursuant to Utah statutory authority, the interest on which is currently exempt from Utah individual income taxes. There can be no certainty as to the ongoing exemption from Utah individual income tax of the interest of non-Utah-based issuers. Since the Fund invests principally and may invest entirely in double tax-free municipal obligations of issuers within Utah, it is subject to possible risks associated with economic, political, or legal developments or industrial or regional matters specifically affecting Utah and whatever effects these may have upon Utah issuers’ ability to meet their obligations.

8. Securities Traded on a When-Issued Basis

The Funds may purchase or sell securities on a when-issued basis. When-issued transactions arise when securities are purchased or sold by the Fund with payment and delivery taking place in the future in order to secure what is considered to be an advantageous price and yield to the Fund at the time of entering into the transaction. These transactions are subject to market fluctuations and their current value is determined in the same manner as for other securities.

9. Income Tax Information and Distributions

The Funds declare dividends daily from net investment income and makes payments monthly. Net realized capital gains, if any, are distributed annually and are taxable. These distributions are paid in additional shares at the net asset value per share or in cash, at the shareholder's option.

The Funds intends to maintain, to the maximum extent possible, the tax-exempt status of interest payments received from portfolio municipal securities in order to allow dividends paid to shareholders from net investment income to be exempt from regular Federal and State income taxes. Due to differences between financial statement reporting and Federal income tax reporting requirements, distributions made by the Funds may not be the same as the respective Fund's net investment income, and/or net realized securities gains. Further, a small portion of the dividends may, under some circumstances, be subject to taxes at ordinary income rates. For certain shareholders some dividend income may, under some circumstances, be subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax. As a result of the passage of the Regulated Investment Company Act of 2010 (the "Act"), losses incurred in this fiscal year and beyond retain their character as short-term or long-term, have no expiration and are utilized before capital losses incurred prior to the enactment of the Act.

10. Credit Facility

Since August 30, 2017, Bank of New York Mellon and the Aquila Group of Funds (comprised of nine funds) have been parties to a $40 million credit agreement, which currently terminates on August 21, 2024 (per the August 23, 2023 amendment). In accordance with the Aquila Group of Funds Guidelines for Allocation of Committed Line of Credit, each fund is responsible for payment of its proportionate share of

- a) a 0.17% per annum commitment fee; and
- b) interest on amounts borrowed for temporary or emergency purposes by the fund (at the applicable per annum rate selected by the Aquila Group of Funds at the time of the borrowing of either (i) the adjusted daily simple Secured Overnight Financing Rate (“SOFR”) plus 1% or (ii) the sum of the higher of (a) the Prime Rate, (b) the Federal Funds Effective Rate, or (c) the adjusted daily simple Secured Overnight Financing Rate plus 1%).

There were no borrowings under the credit agreement during the year ended March 31, 2024.

11. Risks

Mutual fund investing involves risk and loss of principal is possible. The market prices of the Funds' securities may rise or decline in value due to general market conditions, such as real or perceived adverse economic, political or regulatory conditions, political instability, recessions, inflation, changes in interest rates, lack of liquidity in the bond markets, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, weather or climate events, armed conflict, sanctions or other government actions, market disruptions caused by tariffs, trade disputes or other factors, or adverse investor sentiment. When market prices fall, the value of your investment may go down. In the past decade, financial markets have experienced increased volatility, depressed valuations, decreased liquidity and heightened uncertainty. These conditions may continue, recur, worsen or spread.

The long-term impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and its subsequent variants on economies, markets, industries and individual issuers, are not known. Some sectors of the economy and individual issuers have experienced or may experience particularly large losses. Periods of extreme volatility in the financial markets, reduced liquidity of many instruments, increased government debt, inflation, and disruptions to supply chains, consumer demand and employee availability, may continue for some time.

Raising the ceiling on U.S. government debt has become increasingly politicized. Any failure to increase the total amount that the U.S. government is authorized to borrow could lead to a default on U.S. government obligations, with unpredictable consequences for economies and markets in the U.S. and elsewhere. Inflation and interest rates have increased and may rise further. These circumstances could adversely affect the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments, impair the Funds' ability to satisfy redemption requests, and negatively impact the Funds' performance.

Economies and financial markets throughout the world are increasingly interconnected. Economic, financial or political events, trading and tariff arrangements, public health events, terrorism, wars, natural disasters and other circumstances in one country or region could have profound impacts on global economies or markets. As a result, whether or not the Funds invest in securities of issuers located in or with significant exposure to the countries or markets directly affected, the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments may be negatively affected. Following Russia's invasion of Ukraine, Russian securities lost all, or nearly all, their market value. Other securities or markets could be similarly affected by past or future political, geopolitical or other events or conditions. Furthermore, events involving limited liquidity, defaults, non-performance or other adverse developments that affect one industry, such as the financial services industry, or concerns or rumors about any events of these kinds, have in the past and may in the future lead to market-wide liquidity problems, may spread to other industries, and could negatively affect the value and liquidity of the Funds' investments.

Governments and central banks, including the U.S. Federal Reserve, have taken extraordinary and unprecedented actions to support local and global economies and the financial markets. These actions have resulted in significant expansion of public debt, including in the U.S. The consequences of high public debt, including its future impact on the economy and securities markets, may not be known for some time.

The U.S. and other countries are periodically involved in disputes over trade and other matters, which may result in tariffs, investment restrictions and adverse impacts on affected companies and securities. For example, the U.S. has imposed tariffs and other trade barriers on Chinese exports, has restricted sales of certain categories of goods to China, and has established barriers to investments in China. Trade disputes may adversely affect the economies of the U.S. and its trading partners, as well as companies directly or indirectly affected and financial markets generally. If the political climate between the U.S. and China does not improve or continues to deteriorate, if China were to attempt unification of Taiwan by force, or if other geopolitical conflicts develop or get worse, economies, markets and individual securities may be severely affected both regionally and globally, and the value of the Funds' assets may go down.

The value of your investment will generally go down when interest rates rise. A rise in interest rates tends to have a greater impact on the prices of longer term or longer duration securities. In recent years, interest rates and credit spreads in the U.S. have been at historic lows. The U.S. Federal Reserve has raised certain interest rates, and interest rates may continue to go up. A general rise in interest rates may cause investors to move out of fixed income securities on a large scale and could also result in increased redemptions from the Funds.

Investments in the Funds are subject to possible loss due to the financial failure of the issuers of underlying securities and their inability to meet their debt obligations.

The value of municipal securities can be adversely affected by changes in the financial condition of one or more individual municipal issuers or insurers of municipal issuers, regulatory developments, legislative actions, and by uncertainties and public perceptions concerning these and other factors. The Funds may be affected significantly by adverse economic, political or other events affecting state and other municipal issuers in which they invest, and may be more volatile than a more geographically diverse fund. The municipal bond market can be susceptible to unusual volatility, particularly for lower-rated and unrated securities. Liquidity can be reduced unpredictably in response to overall economic conditions or credit tightening. Municipal issuers may be adversely affected by rising health care costs, increasing unfunded pension liabilities, and by the phasing out of federal programs providing financial support. Unfavorable conditions and developments relating to projects financed with municipal securities can result in lower revenues to issuers of municipal securities, potentially resulting in defaults. Municipal securities may be more susceptible to downgrades or defaults during a recession or similar periods of economic stress. Financial difficulties of municipal issuers may continue or get worse, particularly in the event of political, economic or market turmoil or a recession.

A portion of income may be subject to local, state, Federal and/or alternative minimum tax. Capital gains, if any, are subject to capital gains tax.

These risks may result in share price volatility.

12. Recent Events

On March 12, 2024, the Manager and New York Life Investment Management LLC (“New York Life Investments”) announced that they have entered into a definitive agreement for the Manager to sell assets used in its investment advisory business relating to the Funds to New York Life Investments (the “transaction”).

Under the terms of the agreement, subject to Fund shareholder approval, each of the Funds are expected to be reorganized into either an existing series or newly created series of MainStay Funds Trust (collectively, the “MainStay Funds”) (each, a “Reorganization” and collectively, the “Reorganizations”), and subsequently will be advised by New York Life Investments and subadvised by MacKay Shields LLC. The Board of Trustees of the Trust has unanimously approved each of the proposed Reorganizations. The proposed Reorganizations are listed below:

Aquila Funds	Acquiring MainStay Funds
Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Arizona	MainStay MacKay Arizona Muni Fund
Aquila Tax-Free Fund of Colorado	MainStay MacKay Colorado Muni Fund
Aquila Churchill Tax-Free Fund of Kentucky	MainStay MacKay Strategic Municipal Allocation Fund
Aquila Tax-Free Trust of Oregon	MainStay MacKay Strategic Municipal Allocation Fund
Aquila Narragansett Tax-Free Income Fund	MainStay MacKay Oregon Muni Fund
Aquila Tax-Free Fund For Utah	MainStay MacKay Utah Muni Fund

Each Reorganization is contingent upon the completion of certain conditions, including approval by the shareholders of the applicable Fund. If all conditions are satisfied and approvals obtained, the transaction and proposed Reorganizations are expected to close in the third quarter of 2024. The solicitation of proxies to effect each Reorganization will be made by a final, effective Registration Statement on Form N-14, which includes a definitive Proxy Statement/Prospectus, after that Registration Statement is declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”). Fund shareholders are urged to read the Proxy Statement/Prospectus relating to the Reorganization of their Fund and other documents filed with the SEC carefully and in their entirety. The Proxy Statement/Prospectus contains information with respect to the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the MainStay Funds and other important information that Fund shareholders should carefully consider.

Statement Regarding Liquidity Risk Management Program

Rule 22e-4 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, requires open-end management investment companies to adopt and implement written liquidity risk management programs that are reasonably designed to assess and manage liquidity risk. Liquidity risk is defined in the rule as the risk that a fund could not meet requests to redeem shares issued by the fund without significant dilution of remaining investors' interests in the fund. In accordance with Rule 22e-4, Aquila Municipal Trust ("AMT") has adopted a Liquidity Risk Management ("LRM") program (the "program"). AMT's Board of Trustees (the "Board") has designated an LRM Committee consisting of employees of Aquila Investment Management LLC as the administrator of the program (the "Committee").

The Board met on June 2, 2023 to review the program. At the meeting, the Committee provided the Board with a report that addressed the operation of the program and assessed its adequacy and effectiveness of implementation, and any material changes to the program (the "Report"). The Report covered the period from May 1, 2022 through April 30, 2023 (the "Reporting Period").

During the Reporting Period, the Committee reviewed whether each Fund's strategy is appropriate for an open-end fund structure taking into account less liquid and illiquid assets.

The Committee reviewed each Fund's short-term and long-term cash flow projections during both normal and reasonably foreseeable stressed conditions. In classifying and reviewing each Fund's investments, the Committee considered whether trading varying portions of a position in a particular portfolio investment or asset class in sizes the Fund would reasonably anticipate trading, would be reasonably expected to significantly affect liquidity. The Committee considered the following information when determining the sizes in which each Fund would reasonably anticipate trading: historical net redemption activity, the Fund's concentration in an issuer, shareholder concentration, Fund performance, Fund size, and distribution channels.

The Committee considered each Fund's holdings of cash and cash equivalents, as well as borrowing arrangements. The Committee considered the terms of the credit facility applicable to the Funds, the financial health of the institution providing the facility and the fact that the credit facility is shared among multiple Funds. The Committee also considered other types of borrowing available to the Funds, such as the ability to use interfund lending arrangements.

The Committee also performed an analysis to determine whether a Fund is required to maintain a Highly Liquid Investment Minimum ("HLIM"), and determined that the requirement to maintain an HLIM was inapplicable to the Funds because each Fund primarily holds highly liquid investments.

There were no material changes to the program during the Reporting Period. The Report provided to the Board stated that the Committee concluded that the program is reasonably designed and operated effectively throughout the Review Period.

Your Fund's Expenses (unaudited)

As a Fund shareholder, you may incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including front-end sales charges with respect to Class A shares or contingent deferred sales charges ("CDSC") with respect to Class C shares; and (2) ongoing costs including management fees; distribution "12b-1" and/or service fees; and other Fund expenses. The table below is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. The table below assumes a $1,000 investment held for the six months indicated.

Actual Fund Expenses

The table provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information provided in this table, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. To estimate the expenses that you paid on your account, divide your ending account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 ending account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number under the heading "Expenses Paid During the Period".

Hypothetical Example for Comparison with Other Funds

Under the heading, "Hypothetical" in the table, information is provided about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. This information may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period, but it can help you compare ongoing costs of investing in the Fund with those of other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example for the class of shares you hold with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note that expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight ongoing costs and do not reflect any transactional costs. Therefore, information under the heading "Hypothetical" is useful comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you compare total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if transactional costs were included, your total costs would have been higher.

	Actual			Hypothetical

- (1) Assumes reinvestment of all dividends and capital gain distributions, if any, at net asset value and does not reflect the deduction of the applicable sales charges with respect to Class A or the applicable CDSC with respect to Class C shares. Total return is not annualized and as such, it may not be representative of the total return for the year.

Your Fund's Expenses (unaudited)

As a Fund shareholder, you may incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including front-end sales charges with respect to Class A shares or contingent deferred sales charges ("CDSC") with respect to Class C shares; and (2) ongoing costs including management fees; distribution "12b-1" and/or service fees; and other Fund expenses. The table below is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. The table below assumes a $1,000 investment held for the six months indicated.

Actual Fund Expenses

The table provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information provided in this table, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. To estimate the expenses that you paid on your account, divide your ending account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 ending account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number under the heading "Expenses Paid During the Period".

Hypothetical Example for Comparison with Other Funds

Under the heading, "Hypothetical" in the table, information is provided about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. This information may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period, but it can help you compare ongoing costs of investing in the Fund with those of other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example for the class of shares you hold with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note that expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight ongoing costs and do not reflect any transactional costs. Therefore, information under the heading "Hypothetical" is useful comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you compare total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if transactional costs were included, your total costs would have been higher.
